

Huntingburg and Holland Elementary Schools

- Owner: Southwest Dubois County School Corporation
- Location: Huntingburg, IN
- 82,100 s.f. of new construction Huntingburg Elementary
- 30,800 s.f. of new construction 12,700 of renovation Holland Elementary
- Project Description: OMS developed a common program for two different schools with greatly different student populations; Huntingburg and Holland Elementary Schools. The resulting facilities are both single story buildings serving grades K-5. Both schools have special education, art, music, computer labs physical education program spaces, along with a media center and administrative areas. Classrooms are organized around a commons area consisting of support functions including tutor rooms, a prep room and restrooms. This maximizes the efficiency of day to day operations and allows air handling equipment to be housed in a mezzanine above the commons for each classroom wing. Huntingburg Elementary was designed as a "school-within-a-school," two classroom wings allowing grade level groupings and separation. The gymnasium accommodates two classes simultaneously and also serves as an auxiliary gymnasium for the local high school.

