

New Albany High School

- Owner: New Albany-Floyd County Consolidated Schools
- Located in New Albany, IN
- 267,500 s.f. new construction, 203,389 s.f. renovation
- Project Description: New Albany High School underwent a four year, phased addition/renovation to accommodate growth in the student body and enhance the educational program. With the addition of ninth grade students, classrooms increased from 73 to 121. Additions included new administrative areas, athletic offices, bookstore, foodservice and auxiliary gym. A new auditorium, business classrooms, media center, radio/TV suite, science labs, special needs facilities and music department resulted in greater academic opportunities. A full renovations of academic and athletic spaces also were accomplished. To create safer and more convenient site circulation, the bus drop off areas, football field, tennis courts, and playing fields were redesigned and relocated. A total upgrade of the heating and air conditioning systems, technology infrastructure, lockers, windows, and flooring resulted in a 21st century facility. The school remained operational during construction, which required ongoing coordination from all members of the team.

